

So many relatives

The average person (with their partner) has two children before the age of 30 (that grow up to have their own....) and then lives to 75 years of age.

With approximately how many people living on the planet do you share each of your great great great great grandparents?

