

Getting to work

A class took home a survey to find out how their parents travel to work. They got 24 responses.

They matched each of their responses with a transport sorting shape and displayed them like this.

The transport options were car, bus and train.

The class came up with the conclusion:

The most common way our parents get to work is by car.

Explain how their arrangement of transport shapes shows this.

