

The kitchen floor

Grace's kitchen floor is square and is fitted by 64 square tiles in a 8×8 array. Grace chooses black and white tiles. She can have the tiles laid so that they look like a chessboard but she is hoping for something a bit unusual.

The tile man sketches something that has reflective and rotational symmetry.

What does he suggest?

