

Vince's problem

Vince is making a toy clock. He uses a dinner plate to draw a circle on a piece of wood and cuts out the circle using his father's jig saw.

He now wants to find the centre of the circle so that he can attach the hands of the clock. He heard that this can be done using a right angle but he can't remember how.

Can you help him find a way?

